Hi Bevan,

There is totally no basis for his claim against me. I have zero 0 percent liability in this accident.

1. You mentioned you all reviewed the matter? What are the facts and what evidence did you all base on?
2. Did you even bother to get the actual facts right before sending this email?
3. This is an accident with injured personnel. It is a police case, you mean you all can decide the responsibility?

I don't know you are from a Law Firm or an Insurance Firm, but what kind of email or service standard is this? Get your facts right, now I demand you all to provide what are the evidence you all gathered to derive at the recommendation that I am partly at fault.

For your info, the motorcycle FBF8555H hit on to the wheel on the road himself. The rider was thrown off the wheel and his motorcycle skid into my lane and hit my front right bumper. Traffic police is fully aware of this case. I didn't claim against him and now he wants to claim against me?

Either you are telling me traffic police is wrong or the rider gives false statement or you all are not doing your job.

So give me on what evidence or facts you all based on to say I might be held partially responsible for this case. I will consult my lawyer. Thanks.

Regards,
Khen Boon
