Brief Details.

On 01/12/2017 at about 1630hrs, I was driving my vehicle bearing registration number: SLK 3974U on lane 2 along Ayer Rajah Expressway (AYE) towards city, before Alexandra Road exit near to Buona Vista flyover. At that point of time, I was travelling at an approximate speed of 60 km/h as the traffic volume was building up.

Whilst doing so, I noticed the vehicle bearing registration number: SLT 6988M started to brake in a sudden manner once, before it started to jam break causing me to react and does the same. At that point of time, I was at a safety distance of about 2 car length from the aforementioned vehicle. As I managed to react swiftly, I came to a complete stop and did not hit the said vehicle in front of me. However, the vehicle bearing registration number GBB 9438C that was behind me could not manage to stop on time and had hit my vehicle rear causing my car to move forward and hit the vehicle in front of me. Right after that, a vehicle bearing registration number : GY9338C could not stop on time as well causing it to hit the vehicle behind me before the vehicle behind me hit onto mine and caused my vehicle to hit the front vehicle the second time.

From the sudden shocks I received that occurred 2 times concurrently during the incident, I felt a sudden sharp pain on my backbone and decided to call for the ambulance while still in the car as I could not move. The driver of the front vehicle made a checked on me and a few moments later the ambulance arrived and I was conveyed to National University Hospital (NUH) and was treated as outpatient.

I wish to state that all the 4 vehicles were the vehicles involved in the chain collision. I am not sure the reason behind the emergency brake applied by the front vehicle. I wish to add that I do not have an in-car camera.

I also wish to state that I was given a 4 days Medical Certificate (MC) due to the injuries sustained. I have an upcoming medical appointment with NUH for review of my condition and physiotherapy.
