

Reckless and inconsiderate driving.

I was driving straight on Sengkang East Drive (left most lane) when the taxi moved out from the busstop recess onto the lane. I was in. I highbeam to alert him of my approach when he jammed on his brakes. In response, I have to apply emergency brakes and swerve out towards the right in order to avoid a head-on collision into his rear. As I need to avoid collision with other road users ont he right of my car, I need to lane change back to the left. However, the taxi accelerated and also inched out towards the right while I was overtaking him, resulting in a very minor side swipe of his front right and my rear left.
