"WITHOUT PREJUDICE"

Dear Andre,

The lane is a "single lane", vehicles can either turn left or turn right.

Our insured is a long type of vehicle, considering its size and length, it need a wider space to make a right turn.

Our insured had already indicated his intention to make a right turn which was clearly seen in the video.

The collision could be avoided if your client driver did not move forward and waited, giving way to our insured vehicle to complete its turn.

As such, we maintain our opinion that your client coming from behind should give preference to the vehicle ahead of his and should exercise a proper lookout, maintaining a safety distance considering the size and length of the vehicle he was following from behind.

Thank you.

Best Regards,

"WITHOUT PREJUDICE"

Dear Andre,

We refer to the subject of this e-mail.

We have reviewed the video and we observed that:

1)the scene location is a single lane, dual carriage; 2)our insured was already ahead in a stationary position with signals on for his intention of turning; 3)your client vehicle was approaching from behind; 4)your client could see that our insured initiated and started the right turn first; 5)your client following, followed closely to our turning vehicle.

In view of the above, we are of the opinion that your client coming from behind should give preference to the vehicle ahead of his and should exercise a proper lookout, maintaining a safety distance considering the size of the vehicle he was following from behind.

As such, we further opine that your client is more to be blamed for causing the accident.

We regret to inform you that we are instructed to deny liability.

Thank you.
