RE: S8M008WO // SJC7264A 12-02-2018 **URGENT REQUEST**

Dear Kadi,

For this case, the right side headlamp was found to be damage as a result of the accident.

There was no damage to the left side headlamp. Hence, it was not recommended to be replaced. The insured vehicle is almost 10 years at the time of accident as the left side headlamp would naturally look significantly used as compared to the right side headlamp which replaced brand new.

We had previously spoken to the insured on our reason for not allowing the replacement of the left side headlamp and she had advised us that she would write to AXA to appeal her case.

For your consideration.

Thank you.

Dear Yvonne,

Today is my last day in BH. So I hope to clear some lose ends before leaving.

I just spoke to Janice from LKK, the cost price of 1 piece of headlamp LH side is $550(Price from JAE).

Labour we will put up at $150 as we need to remove the whole bumper and do some adjustment where necessary.

Just to double confirm.

This case happened in Feb, so do we follow the old agreement at cost plus labour or new agreement at cost plus 10? Finalise has not been completed yet.

Subject: Headlight Claim for SJC7264A

Dear Yvonne,

In regards to our discussion, i had brought up my concern on the inconsistency of the repair due to the change of headlight for 1 side only. To be honest, i am unable to accept such quality of repair approved and provided by AXA after being with them for almost a decade.

I had placed my trust in AXA for my car and personal insurance needs as I had never doubted the professionalism of them. But with this claim episode, I failed to see the professionalism and quality assurance by AXA on the repair job. It was a truly disappointing experience. And as I had already spoken to and emphasise to so many different representatives of AXA and its partners about my bad experiences and concerns, I do not want to repeat the whole unhappy episode again. I am quite appalled and disappointed that I had to pen this letter to raise my concerns.
