To whom it may concern

The abovementioned patient was seen for right hand and thumb pain for a period of 1 month after he had been involved in an RTA in June 2018. He was seen by me on 28 June 2018 with pain over the Rt hand and the right thumb. He had an xray done which did not show any fractures. He was treated with a thumb spica splint and did a mri on 30 June 2018. Mri showed sprain and low grade tear at the attachment of the abductor pollicis longus at the base of the 1st metacarpal and sprain of the dorsal ligament at the thumb carpometacarpal joint. He was discharged well

Thanks
