Hi Vivian,

Basing on the sketch of your insured and the damages of my client, if my client reversed, I believe that the scratch on his vehicle will be even greater for a moving vehicle.

However, my client suffer dent on the vehicle, moreover, my client is in a straight direction, if he were to reverse, he is going backwards.

I also note that your client have drawn that his vehicle is slanted, how can he be existing when my client vehicle is there?

He is obviously the one reversing and bumped into my client.

Attached is the police report filed by both my client and the witness, I believe if your client is in favour he would have got a witness too, cause there is a wake at the location.

Please investigate this claim, thank you.
