Ms Ong,

Thanks... I just want to highlight again comparing to the photographs (the one with the number plate) which I took after the accident and the photos that he send to me 3 days later is totally different. He demand me to pay S$200 on Saturday March 30, 2019 after 3 days of the accident and send me his damaged photos. I immediately text him and told him off "Bro don't like dat leh the photos u show me is totally different from mine" from there he mentioned that I don't pay he will claim again my insurance. To think about it to replace and repairs the bumper is going to cost more $200....To me is outright cheating which is again my principle.

Thanks in advance....call me if you need further information.

Regards,

Goh Mong Yong

Dear Mr Goh

As spoken, we shall ask our appointed surveyor firm to look into your concerns.

Dear Vic

Your Ref: CC4/LPC19005535/Aha3

According to our Insured, his vehicle lightly touched the TP vehicle and there was no damages. He has taken photographs of the TP vehicle at the accident scene (see below). Please ask your surveyor to look into the matter and update our Insured accordingly.
