Dear Mr Tan,

We refer to the subject matter and to our telephone conversation on 21/06/2019.

As spoken, we attached the coloured scene photos provided by the TP claimant and some of Surveyor's Inspection Photos for your reference. Below are some of the survey photos as requested:

The above photos show the general view of the Third Party vehicle at the time of inspection.

The above photo shows the rear bumper under cover right portion of the Third party vehicle.

The above photos shows a closer view of the rear bumper under cover portion that sustained damages and the point of impact between both vehicles. The damages observed to the taxi's rear portion shows a vertical indentation which may likely correspond to the front number plate of your vehicle that is the most protruding portion that may have likely in contact with the rear bumper under cover of the taxi (please refer to the below scene photo).

Our surveyor is in the view that the damages observed to the Third Party vehicle is consistent to the nature of the accident and as per video footage provided.

As such, in order to avoid further legal cost if the matter will be escalated, we will proceed to settle the matter at best.

We hope the above clarifies.

Thank you.

Best Regards,
