Even if I crossed the chevron, I cannot be totally blamed ...driver was not giving space to move into the lane despite knowing there is very short segment of road to move into proper lane otherwise one will go into sentosa.

At least 50-50 blame should be shared

Thanks

Dear Sir,

We refer to your below email and the contents were noted.

The claimant had provided to us a copy of his vehicle video footage which shows that his vehicle was within his lane when your vehicle from the right had filtered to his lane crossing the chevron markings resulted into this accident. As such, liability may not be in our favour.

Meanwhile, we are still pending for our surveyor's update with regards to cost of repair claimed by the claimant's repairer.

If you have any evidence to provided, kindly forward to us for our review.

Thank you.

Best Regards,

Hi,

May I know how much is the claim. He just had minor scratches .

It was he who rear ended by car as can be guessed from the location of the scratches.

I also had damage of my car but I did not claim.

I hope you deal with the case I think opposite party is guilty of the accident.

Thank you

Dr Babar nazir
