Brief Details.

On 01/11/2019 at around 2310hrs, I was at Changi Airport Terminal 3 picking up some Grab passengers. After picking up 2 passengers, I drove for a short while and had to slow down as the car ahead of me came to a stop. Suddenly, I felt something hit my vehicle from the rear. I asked my 2 passengers if they were fine and they replied yes. I then came out of my car to check and realize that a blue Comfort taxi (SHA7399D) had hit me from the rear. I approached the taxi driver who was all the way in his taxi and tried to speak to him but his window was not wind down. It seemed to me that he didn't want to talk to me. The taxi driver had a few passengers and one of them came out to check the accident. I asked the passenger if he was okay, he complaint of pain. I asked if he needed ambulance. Just then, another passenger came out of the taxi and said that the taxi driver had already called for ambulance. I called the Grab company to inform them of the accident and they told me that I did not need to remain at scene. As such, I left after exchanging particulars with the taxi driver as I still need to send my 2 passengers to their destinations.

After sending my passengers to their destinations, I went to Serangoon Neighbourhood Police Centre with the intention of making a police report. I complaint of giddiness to the officers on duty and they advised me to seek medical treatment first. As such, I went to National University Hospital and received a 3 days medical leave from the doctor.

I do not have a rear camera installed in my car. Also, I can't really recall which lane I was in but I am sure it was either lane 2 or 3 out of the 4 lanes.
