Able to let me know by noon time? Cos I would like to arrange for repairs soon

9:57 am

Also I've verified with my workshop guy, in our situation its your fault.

Reason being:

1) Traffic light has changed to green for a while and I signalled left to go into your lane. Your car was still stationary and I saw you not looking ahead as such i decided to filter into ur lane. I guess just when I went into your lane you realized its green light now and thus u decided to move off but it resulted in you knocking into my left side of the car.
