Hi Shirley,

Please reply as per below and photo attached.

The damages on the van is consistent to the accident. As per attached photo 1 shows the shape of the number plate onto the rear portion of the van. Photos 2 and 3 shows the close up photo of the damage rear doors and rear bumper of the van. This shows the impact from SKL 711M (photo 4) front portion onto the van's rear portion. Do also take note that car SKL 711M have a solid reinforcement bar behind the front bumper while the van's rear portion is just a sponge behind the rear bumper and rear panel, which has no protection. Therefore due to the impact the damages on the rear portion of the van is more serious than the front portion of SKL711M.

Regards
Taufikh

Hi Shirley

Further to my email below please ask surveyor to check on consistency of TP damages as Insured says it is very slight.

We hope to hear from you on TP damages is it consistent.

Dear Shirley

We attached the scene photos from our insured, confirmed there is no video footage from our insured. However Insured says very slight?
