Dear Gerald,

We refer to the above matter.

Third party reported that after he finished his lunch and go to retrieve his car at the carpark, he found that his vehicle front bumper sustained scratches with yellow paint mark. At the same time, our insured vehicle was parked at his right side parking lot. He then checked onto the vehicle and found that our insured vehicle have some scratches at the left side and the height same as his car. Third party had spoken to our driver and our driver told him that he did not feel any impact. Both parties exchange particulars and decided do for insurance claim.

Our driver reported that he had parked his vehicle into the parking lot and he did not come down from the vehicle immediately as he was on the phone. Third party had knocked on his window and claimed that his vehicle had scratched his car. Our driver had exchanged particular with third party and taken some photos.

Based on both parties report and scene photos submitted by both parties, third party vehicle front right bumper had sustained scratches with yellow paint mark which is correspond to the colour of our insured vehicle. Furthermore, our insured vehicle had some scratches on the left rear portion.

Kindly let us have your comments/instruction if we may proceed DS with third party. Thanks.

Best Regards,
