Dear Hsiao Tong,

Thank you for your email. Yes I note that the issue of liability is not in my favour. However, I should emphasise that in the circumstances, i.e. I was turning out very slowly from a parked position and that I stopped the moment I scraped the vehicle in front, the damage must be minimal and therefore the quantum of claim should be minimal. It is inconceivable that the owner of the other vehicle would have to change his bumper as a result of the slight scrape against his car.

I would appreciate your help to negotiate a settlement on this basis. Please let me know if you would like to discuss.

Thank you,

Kind regards,
Li Min
