Dear All,

Hope this email finds you well!

I have been copied in this email without receiving any reply from your good office.

In case, you have misunderstood our question, we are merely looking for instructions on how to proceed with the repairs. I understand the NORM or practice there is on the market. But this practice should not be unjustified. There is no provision or legislation that such a vehicle is to be repaired on a lump sum repair basis. Lastly, a lump sum repair basis with having the repairers warrant/ guarantee the repairs under "lemon law" for six months is also unfair. You have adjusted the repair cost with no parameters/ basis of adjustment yet, the law requires us to warrant the repairs.

As technical adjusters, I believe the instructions on how best to proceed with the repairs should come from yourself. Since the adjustment of replacing and repairing comes from you.

With that said, I do hope to hear from you soon, so as to ease my colleague's affair on the expediting of this case.

Thank You

Best Regards

Mohamed Shabir

Dear Veron,

As per every case, there is a requirement for authorisation to repair. And as per every survey, the surveyor will indicate on the marked estimate the mode of repair and requirement for photos before paint.

Workshops cannot carry out repairs at their own discretion.

I trust you mean well in this matter, will forward your email to sompo for clarification.

Thank You

Hi Summer,

Over at TTS Eurocars Pte Ltd, we do not carry out lump sum repairs unless repair works exceed the economical repair value.

Further to that, for us to carry out lump sum repairs, I will need your written instructions on the repair procedures and requirements clearly stating what items to be replace with new/ reconditioned/ repair. That will show that we are adhering to your guidelines and instructions.

Finally, your written instructions must also state that you will honour a 6 months warranty as per the law requirement in the future for any defects and TTS EUROCARS PTE LTD will once more carry out the repairs.

Thank You

Best Regards

Mohamed Shabir
