CIRCUMSTANCES OF ACCIDENT

After picking up my mother (Hiew Chew Lian) I was slowly reversing my car SMU5016H (Blue car in sketch). While there was no sensor alert sound which indicated an obstacle behind my car while reversing there was suddenly a horn sound and followed by a soft bang sound. The lady driver of taxi SHB432G (White car in sketch) claimed that the scratch at the left bottom corner of her car was resultant of the incident and as she was picking up the passenger we only exchanged phone numbers and took photos of the cars. There was no other visible dents or scratches on both cars. However upon reaching home I checked on the car reverse camera - it was clear that the scratch was already there when the taxi came hence this scratch mark was not due to the incident. Also in line with my mum's observation the taxi was not there when she got onto my car and there was sufficient space for the taxi to be parked next to my car while waiting for her passenger instead of waiting at the T-Junction. In addition the video also captured that the driver was checking on her phone and only sounded the horn when my car approached near.
